

Landon Views New Deal Crop Insurance Move on Eve of Farm Belt Drive

Landon Camp Makes No Comment on the President's Statement; Roosevelt Names 2 Committees To Devise Permanent Scheme.

HEARST'S REPLY

William Randolph Hearst Publishes Treatise "Showing" New Deal Receives Foreign Aid.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 21 (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon and his agricultural advisers studied with interest today President Roosevelt's move toward crop insurance on the eve of the Republican presidential candidate's major drive for votes in the middle western farm belt.

The President's announcement yesterday came during last-hour revision of Landon's Des Moines, Iowa, speech, in which the Kansan is expected to detail his views on farm problems tomorrow night in a nation-wide broadcast.

There was no immediate comment from the Landon camp on the President's statement that he had appointed two committees to work out a crop insurance plan leading to "better permanent protection against drought," and to "develop specific programs for efficient utilization of the resources of the great plains area."

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, a Landon supporter, several weeks ago announced in a radio address he was preparing a crop insurance bill for presentation to the next congress.

It was recalled Landon, in a speech at Springfield, Mass., a week ago, declared "You may search in vain for a national land use program," and "our need today is for a sound soil conservation, erosion control and water resources program."

"Corn Belt" Campaign. Landon will begin his intensive drive for support of the "corn belt" tomorrow morning, charting a program of three major speeches and 23 or more brief talks from the rear platform of his "Sunflower Special" train.

The Des Moines speech will be the Republican nominee's first detailed discussion of farm problems, although he has stated he favored some form of benefit payments and has criticized "the loss of markets, both at home and abroad," calling for "far more aggressive" federal conservation program.

Landon will be accompanied on his midwestern swing through Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois by Lacy Haynes, close political adviser; two Kansas members of congress, W. T. Lamberton and Frank Carlson, and a group of newspaper publishers, including John B. Harris, Hutchinson, Kansas; Frank Boyd, Phillipsburg, Kansas; Verne Marshall, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Gardner Cowley, Jr., Des Moines; and Richard Lloyd Jones, Tulsa, Okla.

Dozen Milk Dealers Meet at Utica to Figure Milk Price

Dairymen Say if Satisfactory Rate Can Be Obtained With Sufficient Market, No Strike Will Be Called —Others Say They Would Accept Flat Price of $2.50, If Dealers Eliminate Classified Plan of Marketing.

Revenue Receipts Show $75,000,000 Increase

Washington, Sept. 21 (AP)—Increases in all but 14 of 68 classifications of federal taxes were shown today to have pushed internal revenue receipts for the first two months of this fiscal year $75,000,000 over the corresponding 1935 period.

Receipts for July and August this year were set at $542,352,774.75, compared with $467,600,833.28 for the period a year ago. This increase occurred even though agricultural adjustment taxes, which provided $28,000,000 in the two 1935 months, were eliminated under a supreme court decision last January.

Largest receipts from a single levy were listed under the capital stock tax, with $109,428,128.44 for the 1935 period compared with $85,380,946.30 in 1935.

Liquor tax receipts increased substantially, being listed at $111,827,807.44 and $91,456,283.18 for the 1935 and 1936 periods respectively. Revenue from the excise tax on imported distilled spirits climbed from $1,833,786 in July and August last year to $4,584,807 for the current year. The excise tax on domestic distilled spirits rose from $24,833,866 to $33,065,447, and increases also were shown in most other categories of liquor taxation.

4 GOP Caravans Start Today on a Two Weeks' Drive

One of four motorized campaign units of the Republican National Committee, which left New York city today for a whirlwind two weeks' tour through New York state and Pennsylvania, will visit points in Ulster county Wednesday.

The unit is in command of Roscoe C. Harper, former counsel for the State Law and Election Department and a former U. S. Treasury judge. It opened today in Westchester, with several meetings, then goes to Orange county for meetings in Newburgh, Middletown and Port Jervis. Tuesday it is to be in Monticello, Sullivan county. Wednesday the unit is to hold meetings in Ulster county, Poughkeepsie, and Schoharie Saturday. Monday it will appear in Albany, remaining until after the state convention, resuming its travels Wednesday, visiting ten other counties.

Another unit, under command of Captain George B. Young, will hold several meetings in President Roosevelt's home county of Dutchess Tuesday, then continuing with meetings in counties on the east bank of the Hudson and joining the Harper caravan in Albany for the state convention.

The two other units, under command of John C. Curran, will spend two weeks in Pennsylvania. Units Well Equipped. Each unit consists of a coupe with a trailer, the latter containing a standard sound motion-picture projector and a translucent screen mounted at the rear. The sound system includes double amplifiers and four loud speakers. Phonograph turntables permit the use of the records and radio installation provides for picking up broadcasts for relay. Each truck has its own generator plant for power.

Sleeping quarters for the crew—picture operator and driver-engineer—are provided in the trailer which also contains facilities that allow its use as a traveling campaign field office. Platforms with microphones are carried for campaign speakers.

The Mayor Is Sued By Daniel J. Murphy

Mayor C. J. Heiselman stated he was both surprised and amused on Saturday when he received a summons by city court to appear on Friday morning in court in response to an action brought against him, not as mayor but as an individual, by Daniel J. Murphy as assignee for Dr. C. F. Keefe. Undoubtedly the mayor will be represented by Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin, while Mr. Murphy will appear in his own behalf. The action is brought to recover $100 for medical services which it is alleged were performed by Dr. Keefe on one Perry Lynch of this city.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—A dozen New York independent milk dealers met at a conference here today which Maurice Cohn, acting as their spokesman, said was to "figure out a flat price which we can offer dairymen for fluid milk."

Several dairymen waiting outside the downtown hotel (Utica) for the conference to end said that "if we can get a satisfactory rate from these fellows and they offer a sufficient market, we will not join a milk strike."

They referred to a call for a milk holiday beginning Thursday, called by a "committee of 13" meeting at Watertown Saturday.

One dairyman, Stewart Ormsby, of Belleville, declared that "it's a question of how many cans of milk they can offer us (how extensive a market the independents can provide) whether we accept their proposition if made."

Other dairymen who declined to be quoted directly said they would accept a flat price of $2.50 for their milk if the dealers would eliminate the classified plan of marketing by which different prices are assigned to milk for various purposes.

Failure of the State Agriculture Department to abolish the classified plan was among reasons given for calling the milk holiday.

State Agriculture Commissioner Peter G. Ten Eyck announced last week reduction from nine to six in the number of classes and an increase to $2.90 per 100 pounds (47 quarts) for fluid milk, effective September 25.

Some of the dairymen here asserted that dealers had been paying a flat rate without regard to classification or rules of the state milk control division "for two years and there's no reason why they can't continue."

Stanley and Felix Piseck, leaders of the New York Milk Producers Federation, Inc., had not yet arrived, although they said yesterday they expected to meet with the independent dealers today.

The Pisecks arrived shortly after the conference began, however, and began conferring with dairymen.

Modified Demands. Poland, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—Leaders of upstate dairymen who have called a milk strike for Thursday, asserted a willingness today to modify their demands for a flat price of $3 a hundred pounds but declared that the strike would continue until the present classified marketing system is abolished by the state.

A committee of strike leaders went to Utica where they said they expected to confer with representatives of independent dealers.

A group of farmers from ten northern and central New York counties meeting here yesterday agreed to accept a flat price of $2.90 for their milk but insisted that there should be no compromise on the classified plan.

State Agriculture Commissioner Peter G. Ten Eyck issued an order Friday raising the price to producers for fluid milk from $2.70 to $2.90 a hundred pounds and reducing the number of marketing classifications from nine to six. The order is effective September 25.

Under the classified plan, the value of the milk to the producer is determined by the use to which it is put. The highest price is paid for milk used for drinking. Correspondingly lower prices are paid for milk used in manufacturing, such as ice cream, cheese, etc.

"Chiseling" Charged. Dairymen demanding abolition of the plan claim that it enables dealers to "chisel" on them because they cannot know the ultimate use to which their milk is put.

Addressing the dairymen on his farm here yesterday, Stanley Piseck, president of the New York Milk Producers Federation, declared: "There cannot be any compromise on elimination of the classified marketing plan but there can be a compromise on a flat price."

Earl K. Flinders, of Redman, estimated 1,600 farmers attended the meeting.

"The strike is called, subject to a compromise," Piseck declared. "We have already written you two rates for your milk and we are going to see the classified price plan abolished."

"No man is in a worse spot than Governor Lehman. Public opinion will not permit the continuance of the classified plan. The governor knows it. The sooner he eliminates it the better for him and his party."

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—Full support of the state Socialist party was pledged to the proposed strike of milk farmers in a statement issued today by the state committee of the Socialist party.

Holy Name Rally Draws 60,000 to Randall's Isle For Religious Revival

Large Delegations From All Parts of the Country Hear Cardinal Hayes Denounce "Blood-Crazed Foes of God and Church."

IRRELIGION SCORED

Keep God in Family and Nation, Alfred E. Smith Urges in His Speech.

Sixty thousand Catholic men, including the Ulster county representation, the largest number ever gathered for a religious demonstration in the East, participated in a great rally at Randall's Island Stadium yesterday afternoon, closing the national convention of the Holy Name Society, says the New York Times.

Coming from all parts of the country, with many delegations there for the day from cities along the Atlantic seaboard, they witnessed a colorful, impressive procession of priests, Bishops, Archbishops, Cardinals and dignitaries of their church. As the 40,000 crowding the stadium floor stood, the procession passed down a center lane through 20,000 more standing on the green field to a large platform where stood an altar and crucifix.

They heard Cardinal Hayes of New York speak of the "diabolical, blood-crazed enemies of God and His church in Spain" and greeted with thunderous applause his words:

"We invoke this day Our Blessed Mother, Virgin Most Powerful—O Mary, come to the rescue of the church in Spain."

Smith Assails Irreligion

They were moved to repeated applause in listening to Alfred E. Smith denounce the spread of irreligion and, asserting the need of God in national and family life, he urged the two and a half million members of the Holy Name Society to constitute themselves the "shock troops" in the struggle to keep God in the nation.

In union they repeated after the Very Rev. Thomas F. Conlon, national director of their societies, the Holy Name pledge, proclaiming their belief in the "sacred truths" of their church, pledging loyalty to country and dedicating their manhood to "the honor of the sacred name of Jesus."

In final exaltation all knelt and received the benediction of the most blessed sacrament as Cardinal Hayes, in gold cape, held forth the gold monstrance.

The laymen themselves had made a notable procession earlier in the day as, beginning about noon, they walked over the Triborough Bridge, mostly along the Manhattan approach from 125th street, to the island. They came in a steady stream for more than two hours and a half, pouring into the stadium after the ceremonies, delayed in starting, began at 2:20 o'clock. Only a few came by bus.

A festive note was given when delegations from Boston, Providence, Philadelphia and Baltimore brought cadet bands, which proceeded to parade about the cinder track. Seven hundred police under Deputy Inspector Mat McGrath had little difficulty in handling the huge crowd. One man, identified as William Windorf, 75 years old, of 90-16 Borkel Place, Queens Village, died of thrombosis of the brain as he entered the stadium, and three others were prostrated.

Important participants in the ceremonies were the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, and Cardinal Cerejeira, Patriarch of Lisbon, Portugal.

Cardinal Hayes in his address, praising the contribution of the Holy Name Society to the stability of government and the sanctity of family life, said he is always greatly impressed every spring with the corporate communions of the thousands of members who are employees of the city and nation in the Fire, Police, Sanitation, Postal, and Customs Departments. Turning then to Spain, he said:

"Nor should this occasion be allowed to pass without turning our eyes in tears toward sacrilegious Spain. There arises in vision before me a noble monument of Christ in a public square in Spain, erected there long ago to express the love of His heart for mankind, a statue of gentleness, kindness and mercy."

Boy Survives Auto Underwriters Raps Tragedy, Five Die Social Security Act

North Tonawanda, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—Displaying only a scratched nose, 14-year-old Robert D. Young, of Buffalo, was the sole survivor today of an automobile ride which cost the lives of his young companions.

The others were Christ Geier, 20; Lucille Geier, 18, and Edith Geier, 16, his sisters; Leon E. Highhouse, 20, all of Lockport, and Melvin Bowman, 21, of Buffalo.

They were killed when their car plunged into the barge canal two miles east of here yesterday.

Young said Highhouse's sedan, on a High-Level road near Pickard's Bridge, left the road on a sharp turn, clipped off a heavy concrete guard post, smashed through the top branches and landed 50 feet away in the canal.

"When the car ripped through the trees, I closed my eyes," the boy said. "The car must have turned over many times because there was glass crashing and wood breaking. Then the car hit the water and it was terribly cold."

"I braced my feet on the floor and went through a hole in the roof. When I got to the surface I saw the body of one of the girls floating on the canal."

"I swam to the bank and a farmer and his son came over the bridge with lanterns and found me."

Coast Guardsmen and sheriff's deputies worked several hours before they retrieved the smashed car in which Bowman's body was found.

The bodies of the other youths were found near the spot where the car sank in 12 feet of water. Those of the girls were found floating a mile down the canal.

GANNETT IS MENTIONED AS GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE

Norwich, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—Republican leaders from eight counties in the sixth judicial district yesterday discussed Frank E. Gannett, Rochester publisher, as a possible candidate for the party's gubernatorial nomination. One leader said Gannett's name was mentioned together with Senator George B. Flegenbaum, Mayor Roland B. Martin of Syracuse and Supreme Court Justice William F. Reeky of Yorktown. No action was taken.

Man Killed, 2 Wounded

New York, Sept. 21 (AP)—Harold Sullivan, 42, owner of a Greenwich Village bar, was killed at 2 o'clock today when a ship named "The Green" was struck by a car in the Greenwich Village district. Sullivan was shot in the left shoulder and left thigh. The other victim, identified as Arthur Dunn, and who police said was also known as Peter Ryan, 22, New York, received a wound in the right leg.

Toledo, Spain, Sept. 21—Government bombing squads held off a "no quarter" assault on the broken Alcazar today while big guns resumed their bombardment of the grimly-held ruins.

The scheduled mop-up, originally set for dawn, was delayed pending further preparations by government forces. Two machine gun nests, set up by insurgent defenders during the night amid the debris of the military governor's headquarters, were being searched out by snipers.

Gen. Jose Asensio, government commander, left for the Talavera front to direct defense operations. Government commanders decided on an infantry attack on the crushed fortress in whose caverns the self-imprisoned insurgents were concealed after dynamite and gasoline failed to drive them from the ruins.

Bullets and Grenades

A steady stream of machine gun bullets and hand grenades flowed from the insurgent positions behind shattered columns and in debris-strewn halls of the ancient fortress.

Socialist commanders, alarmed over the increasing death toll in the government ranks, issued stern orders against unauthorized forays into the smoking Alcazar.

Government gunners continued to blast shells into the shattered fascist haven and fighting planes, alert against insurgent air attacks, signalled range directions to the artillery batteries.

50 Yards From Alcazar.

The government bombers concentrated their forces in the Holy Cross Hospital about 50 yards from the Alcazar at a point which afforded the easiest approach to the fortress' patio.

An anarchist militiaman conducted this correspondent to the exit through which the assault was ordered.

"Look where they are," he said to me—then suddenly crumpled with blood pouring down from a temple wound. He died, another victim of insurgent snipers.

Nearly two groups of militia engaged in a bitter quarrel inside their own ranks. The argument centered around a red and yellow striped banner which a group of Catalan soldiers carried in one of their automobiles.

Quarrel Over Flag.

Armed workers from Madrid voiced loud objections to the flag which they said contained the same colors as the monarchist emblem the fascists have adopted.

The workers wrenched the banner from the car and trampled on it. A genuine fight was only prevented by the arrival of a militia commander who settled the difficulty easily and restored the flag to the Catalans.

I met a 21-year-old Argentine girl, Lena Abranion, from Buenos Aires. Dressed in blue overalls, she said she had just finished her second month of militia service.

"I have been here in Toledo three days," she told me. "Before that I served in the Guardamania mountains as a group commander. I only led one attack but I had a hand grenade and I saw that it accounted for eight 'Moors'."

Suddenly, as we were talking, we heard a whirling noise. We threw ourselves flat. A hundred yards away a shell dropped—but did not explode. It was from a fascist trench mortar inside the Alcazar.

RECEIVED BY J. H. MURPHY

Madrid, Sept. 21 (AP)—Talavera, in La Mancha, Spain, Sept. 21—Morech Legionnaires under General Franco concentrated a relentless attack today on Maugu, but was junction 40 miles from Madrid.

The driving insurgents occupied all territory halfway between Talavera and Maugu in their fierce assault on retreating government militiamen.

Moors, carried in the course of the flight from Spanish Morocco, stalked the streets of the little village of Maugu south of the main road leading to the gates of the Spanish capital.

Advance patrols of the controlling insurgents pushed ahead, firing on the run and dragging machine guns with them in their haste. In a rain of death, the retreating Socialists abandoned their positions and scattered before the organized offensive of the disciplined, drilled foreign troops.

Maugu, objective of the immediate fascist drive, was the scene of desperate efforts to coordinate the shattered government defenses. Gen. Jose Asensio, commander of all government troops in central Spain, ordered fierce reinforcements in preparation.

Sullivan Slayers Sought in Jersey

Keyport, N. J., Sept. 21 (AP).—Search for the slayers of Robert J. "Farmer" Sullivan, a West Side New York labor leader, developed today into an investigation of a suspected connection between longshoremen's union leaders and politicians in New York city.

Edward F. Juska, assistant prosecutor of Monmouth county, announced discovery in Sullivan's pocket of a "work sheet" which Juska said contained notations of men to be furnished for political work in New York.

In this book, Juska said, might be a clue to the man or men who shot Sullivan while he was on a party with friends just before dawn Sunday.

The assistant prosecutor said the notations were approximately as follows:

"Labor committee for use of Democratic campaign:

"Committee:
"Kings, 10 men at $35 a week; Queens, 10 men at $35; Manhattan, 10 men at $35; Richmond, 10 men at $35; Bronx, 10 men at $35. Campaign manager for Democrats, $150 a week and expenses.

"Labor committee for use of Republican campaign:

"Kings, 10 men at $30; Queens, 10 men at $30; Manhattan, 10 men at $30; Richmond, 10 men at $30; Bronx, 10 men at $30."

A notation "$21,000", at the bottom of the sheet was unexplained, he said.

Also found on Sullivan were membership cards in the New York Longshoremen's Union, said Juska.

Sullivan, who was 40 and lived in New York, was shot at the "grand opening" of Joseph Martin's tavern near here.

Sergeant Campbell said Sullivan, a former pugilist, was seated at a table with six companions when shot through the chest, as eight bullets were fired through a window.

Police said Sullivan was convicted in New York in 1931 of the slaying of Paul Zammer and was sentenced to serve from 20 years to life in Sing Sing prison, but won a reversal and went free.

Simplon Bore Is Longest

Railway Tunnel in World

The longest railway tunnel in the world, and one of the greatest boring enterprises of any age, is the Simplon Tunnel connecting Switzerland with Italy through the Alps. It is approximately twelve and a half miles long and was completed in 1905, after about six and a half years' work and at a cost of $2,100,000, says Tit-Bits Magazine.

The tunnel consists of two parallel passages, sixteen and a half feet wide, and from 5,000 feet to 7,000 feet below the top of the mountain above it. The two passage-ways are connected by transverse galleries at intervals of 600 feet for ventilation and transportation purposes.

The chief difficulties encountered by the men who bored it were the intense heat, which often rose to 110 degrees Fahrenheit, and the large number of springs, especially hot springs, that turned the tunnel at times into a veritable canal and necessitated the suspension of work for months at a time. To overcome the torrid atmosphere cold water was pumped into the borings through pipes pierced with small holes, so that the water sprayed the side of the tunnel and the men at work as well. Through this spray fresh air was forced.

KINGSTON W. C. T. U. MEETING HELD SEPT. 17

The September meeting of the Kingston Women's Christian Temperance Union was held Thursday afternoon, September 17, at St. James Methodist Church, with Mrs. George Shults, president, conducting the worship service.

Among the good reports given was that of the treasurer, Mrs. Sophia Gillett, who reported all bills paid up to date, and a substantial surplus, most of which will be added to the New York State Alcohol Education Fund on Sunday, September 27.

Mrs. Shults said several Protestant churches in Kingston will have sermons and take up special offerings for the New York State Alcohol Education Fund on Sunday, September 27.

Mrs. Shults announced the Ulster county convention to be held at New Paltz on October 1 with morning, afternoon and evening sessions. All women desiring to attend should notify Mrs. Shults in ample time to make auto reservations.

The New York State Convention will be held from October 15 to 20 in the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Albany. Among the many interesting features of that convention will be the state president's address on Friday evening, Smedley Butler's speech Sunday afternoon, and the Grand Diamond Medal oratorical contest.

The October meeting of the local union will be held on Thursday afternoon, October 22, as Mrs. Shults and members will be in attendance at the state convention on the regular meeting date.

The following women were elected as officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. George Shults; vice president, Mrs. John Stokely; treasurer, Mrs. Sophia Gillett; recording secretary, Mrs. William Whitten; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Andrew Keefe.

Mrs. Shults announced an executive meeting for Monday evening, September 28.

After the W. C. T. U. benediction the meeting adjourned.

The Ice Age

Estimates are based chiefly upon consideration of the rates of erosion of streams known to have been formed after the recession of the glacial sheet. The Niagara river is such a stream. A representative of the United States Geological Survey figured from the rate at which the falls of Niagara have receded since their discovery by white men that the glacier disappeared only 7,000 or 8,000 years ago. Other estimates are up to 30,000 years.

Holy Name Rally Draws 60,000

men could have gone so mad as to have a firing squad actually assault His sacred head. True it is, He can no longer endure suffering nor death itself. But He suffers in the members of His mystical body, those courageous martyrs, bishops, nuns and the faithful who have met violent death from the diabolical, blood-crazed enemies of God and of His church.

"We invoke this day Our Blessed Mother, Virgin Most Powerful—O Mary, come to the rescue of the church in Spain!"

"May the prayer that we are offering at this hour be acceptable reparation for the sacrilegious crimes committed against Christ and His Church. May from the blood of Spain's recent martyrs arise a more glorified church, and a more blessed and venerated King, Christ Our Lord."

Invoking a blessing on all present, Cardinal Hayes read a cable message which he said would be sent to Pope Pius XI, through Cardinal Pacelli. The message was:

"The Cardinal Archbishop of New York, the Cardinal Patriarch of Lisbon, His Excellency the Apostolic Delegate, the Archbishops and the clergy and faithful gathered here in large numbers in the national convention of the Holy Name Society, manifesting an enthusiastic spirit of faith in Christ and loyalty to His Vicar, desire to thank His Holiness for his most inspiring message to the convention, and solemnly pledge undying allegiance to the See of Peter, and filial affection to his sacred person while sympathizing in prayer with him in the great sorrows that heavily bear upon him. All beg on bended knees his paternal benediction."

Need of Religion Stressed

Mr. Smith asserted the demonstration challenged the theory "that religion is individual and not social, and that it should not intrude into the social, political and ecclesiastical life of a nation."

"We further challenge the theory that it makes no difference what you are if you keep it to yourself. Now, unless we challenge these theories, the entire social fabric will be divorced from all moral and ethical relations and its guiding principle will be one of expediency."

Protesting against the openness with which the denial of God is "proclaimed from the rooftops in some of the great market places of the world," he said it was bound to happen "when we permit Godlessness and irreligion to pre-empt the social order." Continuing he said: "Another reason for this convention is to keep God in our national life. Do we need Him? Oh, boy, I don't know what we are going to do without Him! I don't see what we expect to get without Him. We are going to face chaos, revolution, disorder and eventually complete and utter ruin."

"Look at Russia and Spain and Mexico, where civilization has been set at naught, because without God there can be no civilization."

God is needed not only by the nation but by the family to preserve the American freewill, he declared. Both the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence are founded on God-given rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and the gift cannot be retained without the God, he said.

Archbishop Cioffanti in his remarks, traced the history of the Holy Name Society and linking its activities with the Catholic Action movement, said:

"In our times, perhaps, more than ever before, there is need for us to defend the name of Christ and his claims upon mankind. In so many nations today there have been truly dreadful waves of a pagan rationalism and principles destructive of every moral authority have been abroad."

The opening address was given by Francis X. Stephens, Jr., executive chairman of the New York archdiocesan union, who declared that members of the society were mindful of their responsibilities as citizens and stood as a firm foundation on which good government could rest.

Byrnes McDonald, Sixth Deputy Police Commissioner, representing Mayor LaGuardia, said that home and church must unite against advancing crime and meet the problem of the youth of many criminals today.

The Rev. T. S. McDermott, provincial of the Dominican Fathers, said the Holy Name Society had been founded just 662 years ago by Pope Gregory and that today the society stood against current subversive movements attacking religion.

Two Flags Are Carried
Leading the procession as it emerged from under the east side of the stadium was a squad of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus in full dress uniform and a guard from the W. J. Boyd R. of C. of the Bronx, carrying banners of the American flag and the religion and white Papal flag. They were followed by altar boys in red cassocks and white surplices from the Church of St. Vincent Ferrer, Lexington Avenue and Sixty-sixth street, known as the cradle of the Holy Name Society in this country. The vested choir of the church was on the platform.

Then came diocesan priests, Dominicans, Carmelites, Benedictines and Jesuits in their robes, followed by Bishop Bernard Ravenhorst of the Bahamas, Bishop John F. Noll, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Bishop Peter J. Ireton, Richmond, Va.; Bishop John A. Duffy, Syracuse, and Archbishop John A. McNicholas of Cincinnati.

Then followed the Apostolic Delegate attended by the Very Rev. John F. Brady, supreme spiritual director of the New York Diocesan Union, an assistant priest, and the Very Rev. Mr. J. Francis A. McIntyre, chancellor of the Archdiocese of New York, and the Very Rev. Leo W. Bias of Bellevue, Ill., as deacons.

With page boys holding up his scarlet cappaucina, Cardinal Cereja, married with Mrs. John F. Hickey of Cincinnati as assistant priest, and as deacons the Very Rev. Mr. Francis P. Connolly of Brooklyn and the Very Rev. Michael O'Gorman of Los Angeles, Calif.

Cardinals Hayes, was attended by the Right Rev. Michael J. Lavelle, Vicar General of the New York diocese, as assistant priest, and as deacons by Mr. Edmund J. Britt, chancellor of Buffalo, and Mr. Bernard McKenna of the Catholic University in Washington, D. C. He was also attended by Mr. Smith, Mr. McDonald and George Gillespie, a Knight of Saint Gregory. During the benediction the Cardinal was assisted by the Rev. W. Stauder of Rochester as deacon.

The Cardinals sat on thrones on the left of the altar and the Apostolic Delegate on a throne on the right. Large yellow flowers and ferns adorned the altar and high over it on a steel framework was a special electric organ.

Following the recessional the crowd walked back over the bridge or rode in the 75 buses which were waiting to transport them to the bridge ends.

Yes, this modern packaging is sanitary and everything, but there's less political wisdom in America since the crossroads cracker barrel disappeared.

Flanagan Accepts

September 21, 1936.

Editor of Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, New York.

Dear Sir:

On September 19, 1936, you published in your paper what purported to be a transcript of a letter from Judge Frederick G. Traver to Joseph Farkas, secretary of the Socialist Party, wherein Judge Traver stated his intention of filing a declaration of the Socialist nomination for county judge. Inasmuch as this letter was not addressed to you or your paper and was addressed to Mr. Farkas, it impresses me as being rather singular and unusual that it should fall into your hands and be published by you on the day following its date. Also, since Judge Traver saw fit to mention me in his letter, I desire an opportunity to advise you and the readers of your paper just how I intend to deal with the situation.

I was duly nominated by the Socialist party as its candidate for the office of district attorney of Ulster county and I respectfully accept that honor and am pleased to do so. The nomination was diligently sought by my opponent. His father, his assistant district attorney and other county employees made great effort to procure the Socialist endorsement for Cleon B. Murray. He, and I, sought that endorsement vigorously. In his campaign in 1933, Mr. Murray sought and accepted the Socialist endorsement and was the candidate of that party.

The Socialist Party is recognized in this state and nation. It is organized and functioning throughout this land. In this state it is subject to the same laws and requirements as the two major parties, and, therefore, as with all parties, under the Election Law its candidates are chosen by the vote of its enrolled members at a primary election. I received 37 votes from duly enrolled Socialist voters in the primary and my opponent received but 11 votes. Also, there is nothing in the Election Law of the State of New York that says that the secretary of any party or that any Mr. Farkas can repudiate what a majority of the enrolled voters have done in the matter of endorsing a candidate.

My personal opinion is that the letters of Mr. Farkas and Judge Traver might be a case of sour grapes. Mr. Farkas' letter is ridiculous for the reason that no Socialist is bound to do the will of Mr. Farkas. Judge Traver's letter smacks political for the reason that if he wished to decline the Socialist nomination he could have done so without writing a letter to Mr. Farkas, or without mentioning my name, or without stating therein that he was "leaving Mr. Flanagan to deal with the situation as he sees fit". If Judge Traver wished to decline the Socialist endorsement he should have filed his declination with the Board of Elections, without any reference to me and without any letter to Mr. Farkas or any copy thereof to the press. When Judge Traver received the endorsement of the Democratic party he stated that he felt that a great honor was being bestowed upon him. He stated that his appreciation and gratitude was immeasurable. I am a candidate of the Democratic Party and if Judge Traver's letter is considered by anyone as an attempt to injure my campaign, then the gratitude he expressed on receiving the Democratic endorsement has been short lived. However, I am not accusing Judge Traver of intentionally trying to do me any harm but I do think that he should have declined in the way the law provides and without any letters to Mr. Farkas or the press and without any reference to me.

It is an easy matter for Judge Traver, who has been endorsed by both the Republican and Democratic parties, to decline the Socialist endorsement, but I am proud, glad and pleased that I have been endorsed by them and, as they are all American citizens, entitled to a vote the same as members of any other party. I feel honored to be their candidate and am asking for their votes the same as I am the votes at all other Ulster county voters.

In conclusion, may I state that in the past the Socialist Party endorsement was sought and accepted by the present mayor of the city of Kingston, the present treasurer of the county of Ulster, the present judge of the city court of the city of Kingston and by numerous other candidates in this city and county. Trusting that you will give this letter the same publicity you gave to the letter of Judge Traver, I am

Respectfully yours,

CHRIS J. FLANAGAN.

Praises the HOLC Before Realtors

Bolton Landing, N. Y., Sept 21 (AP).

Harold Riegelman, former special housing and mortgage financing counsel to the treasury department, declared today that "a million American families" have the Home Owners Loan Corporation to thank for the fact that they still live in the homes which they bought or built with hard-earned savings.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the convention of the Real Estate Association of the state of New York, Riegelman tempered his praise of the administration really financing with criticism of federal low-rent housing and slum clearance projects.

Riegelman said that while "on the financial sector of the housing front our government has been conspicuously successful," in the low rent housing and slum clearance sectors "our government has not been successful."

"The program," he said, "has lightened private capital from investment in large scale housing enterprises at a time when it should have had every encouragement to enter that field from the fear of government competition."

"Out of a third of a billion dollars available for low rent housing," he said, "only $130,000,000 has been accounted for and of this about a third has been spent and little of the money is yet occupied."

"This failure is the more apparent when we consider that in a corresponding period England, Scotland and Wales, with a population 36 per cent of ours has actually consumed more than eight times as many dwelling units as we have attempted."

Local Attendees.

Burns of 285 1/2 street, all of whom are local real estate brokers left Sunday to attend the 32nd Annual Convention of the Real Estate Association of the state of New York which is being held at the Sagamore Hotel, Bolton Landing, Lake George.

That Body of Yours

By James M. Burton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)

STUTTERING

"The other day I stood for five or

10 minutes outside the door listening to six-year-old David as he played in a sand-box. He made roads and tunnels and pushed wooden blocks representing automobiles and trains, up and down and in and out, expressing his thoughts aloud and without the least difficulty in speech. As soon as I made a noise he became silent and when I entered the room he began to stutter and continued to do so even when he was talking to himself."

"Many children of all ages stutter most severely in the classroom but have little difficulty elsewhere, while others have scarcely any trouble at school but stutter most severely at home. Other children and adults frequently have great trouble when they are speaking over a telephone, purchasing a ticket or asking for information."

I am quoting from the little booklet "The Child Who Stutters" by Dr.

Frederick W. Brown, published by the American Medical Association. In my final year in public school when we were competing for scholarships,

the student who stood first stuttered whenever a question was asked, but showed no speech defect outside the classroom. "Stuttering may begin at a time of a sudden or intensive emotional experience usually of a type producing fear, anger, or anxiety."

I believe these examples show very clearly that stuttering is not really a defect in the speech apparatus itself.

If there were a defect, stuttering would occur at all times. The fact that the individual stutters at one time and not at another simply means that there is something about the situation—place or people—

when he stutters that upsets him mentally and the stuttering results.

"With the child who is just beginning to stutter, it is evident that stuttering usually begins during periods of general emotional distress and conflict, and that the circumstances attending the beginning of stuttering, the actual situations in which it is first observed are characterized by specific or special emotional conflicts associated with attempted speech."

You can readily see then that in schools (private or public) where the students are being treated for stuttering, the first thought is to have them speak in the presence of others, to use the telephone, to recite or take part in plays. The student gradually begins to feel that he is not an "outsider" but "belongs" to the community, and as his "shyness" wears away his stuttering disappears.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terence Mahony has learned that an attempt is to be made to kidnap Miss Little, the star of the Cinema Ball. Terence knows that a man named Lawson, an old friend of the Littles, is behind the plot. So he goes to the place where the kidnaping is to be done and then turns on the kidnapper and rescues Miss Little.

While Lawson has announced Miss

Little's disappearance to Mr. Little, and Little has called the police, a knock is heard at the Little door.

Chapter Seven

MR. LITTLE left the room. Lawson waited. His dark eyes were glowing, and his fists were tightly clenched. All his muscles were taut with suspense. From inside the study he heard the front door open.

Mahony's voice sounded in the hall.

"I've brought Miss Little home.

She's unconscious. But I don't think there's much wrong with her."

Lawson tensed muscles relaxed.

Now he knew the worst in the hall

he heard Mr. Little's voice, hoarse and indignant.

"What does this mean? What have you been doing to her? Elsie! . . .

Elsie! . . . What's the matter with her? Has she been hurt?"

Through the slightly open doorway Lawson could see a black garbed man in the hall, with Elsie in his arms. So that was what Mahony had done—pretended to be one of his own men. In that case he had probably carried out this business single-handed. And if so, there was hope for him yet.

He glanced around him quickly.

Hanging over the mantelpiece was a

Junior League Submits Reports On Baby Clinic

Believing that the people of Kingston who have in the past so generously contributed towards the support and maintenance of the Kingston Junior League Baby Welfare Clinic are entitled to know for what purposes their money has been expended, the Kingston Junior League takes pleasure in setting forth below the report of the committee in charge of the work of the clinic together with the treasurer's report.

Report of the Chairman of the Baby Welfare Committee.

The chairman of the Baby Welfare Committee submits the following report for the year 1935-1936.

The continued success and growth of the Junior League Baby Welfare Clinic has been due to the unselfish service of the volunteer physicians, the efficient work of the Junior League nurse, the cooperation of the Baby Welfare committee, the interest of the entire Junior League membership and the support of the people of Kingston.

The Infant and Pre-school Consultation Clinic has been under the supervision of Dr. Henry L. Bibby and Dr. Rachel Holloway. It has been held on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month with an average attendance of fifteen children. Each child was given a thorough physical examination and each mother advised how to feed and care for her child so he might continue in good health.

Cod liver oil was given all babies and calcium and iron to those that particularly needed it. Fifty sun-lamp treatments have been given during the year.

Dr. John B. Krom has been in charge of the Prenatal Clinic which has held the first and third Thursdays of each month with an average attendance of nine. Each expectant mother was advised how to care for herself so that she might have a normal healthy baby.

The first of the year Dr. Krom withdrew from active duty at the Prenatal Clinic and Dr. Elizabeth Moore Parsons kindly consented to fill this vacancy. Dr. Krom will remain with us in an advisory capacity. We are deeply indebted to him for his untiring efforts in behalf of our prenatal work.

Miss Ann Cassidy was employed by the Junior League as a full time nurse to carry forward Baby Welfare work in Kingston. She assisted at the regular clinics and conducted Mother and Baby Conferences on the first and third Wednesday of each month. The average attendance at these conferences has been eight. She devoted the major part of her time to home visits where she helped mothers and children with their health problems. During the year her visits have been classified as follows:

Pre-natal	115
Pre-school	307
Infants	400
Demonstrations	143
Instruction	581
Birth certificates delivered	47
Cooperative visits	122
Total	1,715

June 1, 1936, we have a total of 327 cases on hand which are divided as follows, infants 248, pre-school 71, pre-natal 8.

In addition to her regular duties Miss Cassidy attended the State Conference of Public Health Nurses and Officers at Saratoga Springs in July. She gave talks to the Rosendale P. T. A. and School No. 4. She has talked on prenatal supervision to the student nurses at the Kingston City Hospital after their observation at our clinics. She conducted a Little Mothers Club from the National Youth Conservation group of girls in the city with a total attendance of 63. She attended a study group in the "Sociological Approach to Public Health" held at the Board of Health rooms during the winter and conducted a class in Child Hygiene for mothers at the clinic.

The committee composed of the members of the Junior League assisted in the activities of the clinics. Those serving on this committee were:

Chairman—Mrs. John B. Krom
 Secretary—Mrs. Robert Hancock
 Treasurer—Mrs. Allan Hanstein
 Obstetrical packages—Mrs. Charles Arnold
 Maintenance—Mrs. James Betts
 Publicity—Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton
 The president—Mrs. Leon Chambers
 During the year Mrs. Robert Bodie, a sustaining member has added to this committee in an advisory capacity.

Three changes were made in this committee the first of the year. Mrs. Margaret Carlton replaced Mrs. Robert Hancock and Mrs. Charles Arnold became chairman when Mrs. Joy resigned and Miss Isabel Brigham took charge of the obstetrical packages.

Museum Staff Finds Indian Rock Shelter

An Indian Rock shelter, near Monsey, Rockland county, recently explored by the staff of the Trailside Museum in Bear Mountain Park, has proved to be one of the richest discoveries of aboriginal artifacts in the region of the New York divisions of the Interstate Park and its environs. It was investigated in the course of an archaeological survey of Orange and Rockland counties, in southern New York, in which the Interstate Park is located, under the direction of William H. Carr, director of the Trailside Museum, operated jointly by the American Museum of Natural History of New York City and by the commissioners of Palisades Interstate Park. Much of the exploration was done and the discoveries identified and evaluated by Mr. Carr's archaeological assistant, James Burggraf. Mr. Burggraf believes the shelter to be the most interesting and rich in various Indian relics since the exploration by Max Schrabach of Paterson, N. J., noted authority on Indian shelters, in 1902 of the famous Horse Stable Shelter, one of the caves occupied by the notorious Revolutionary Guerilla, Claudius Smith, near the western border of the Harriman Section of the park.

The place has long been known for its beauty, locally, being a small valley called the "Glen" or "Quarry Glen". It is owned by the Monsey Realty Corporation, the president of which, Herman Heldger, gave permission for the investigation and aided therein. It has been used for picnicking but its long use as an Indian shelter, disclosed by recent discoveries, had not been suspected. It is also interesting geologically, as occurring in a belt of sandstone-limestone conglomerate, which borders the red Triassic sandstone of Rockland county, and of northern New Jersey, extended from Stony Point on the Hudson southwest, close to the front of the older granite and gneiss rocks of the Hudson Highlands and the Ramapo Mountains. This conglomerate, consisting of limestone and sandstone pebbles in a matrix of finer particles of the same materials, tends by the leaching of the lime, to form small caves, leaving holes where a harder sandstone stratum lines in a position to make a roof.

The original discovery of the Glen shelters near Monsey was made by James Velth of Suffern, who is interested in Indian remains, and while prospecting for aboriginal sites, chanced upon these caves. The situation was obviously so ideal for aboriginal occupancy that he slightly testholed one of the openings and found charcoal, signs of probable Indian fires. Later, he sunk a deeper testhole in the center of the floor of the shelter, and penetrated an ancient fireplace, with hundreds of deer bones, charred by fire, fragments of pottery, chips of flint and a stemmed arrow point.

Mr. Velth returned again, and with the aid of Wayne Bronson, enlarged the pit, and found more bones and pottery fragments, and two broken arrows. Mr. Velth now realized he was on the track of a notable Indian site, and reported his finds to Mr. Carr, director of the Trailside Museum at Bear Mountain. Mr. Carr detailed Mr. Burggraf, archaeologist, and Richard Koke, historian of the staff, and they pursued the work further with Mr. Velth. It was agreed by all the parties including Mr. Heldger, the owner, that all the materials found be deposited in the Historical Museum at Bear Mountain, which is becoming a rich repository for Indian remains of the lower Hudson Valley, as a result of the archaeological survey of Orange and Rockland counties, and of gifts and loans of relics previously found and deposited in the museum by residents who feel it to be the best place for such aboriginal relics to assure their preservation and for greatest educational use.

The explorers had first to dispose of recent rubbish in the form of broken bottles, tin cans and other modern human leavings by present day picnickers, who had not realized that under the earth in the bottoms of these shelters lay momentoes of Indian campers of centuries ago.

The largest shelter, 43 feet long by 6 feet deep and 6 feet high, lies on the east side of a gully, a few feet above the brook which flows through the glen. A more powerful stream, during the time when this part of Rockland county was covered by the ice sheet of the last glacial period, or when it was melting off, has cut a long gallery in the sandstone and conglomerate. Post glacial weathering has also caused roof blocks to fall. When first examined by Mr. Burggraf, the larger part of the floor of this shelter was covered by a tremendous slab of sandstone which had been detached from the roof of the cave, centuries ago. This was proved by the fact that some Indian remains were on the top of this slab while others were on that part of the floor not covered by it. Before it fell the shelter was eight feet high in places.

Another shelter, across the stream, is smaller. Both disclosed Indian artifacts. Further search of the firepit in the larger shelter disclosed many more bones, small fragments of a large Algonquian storage vessel, and of a smaller pot with a dotted decoration. Near the north corner of the fallen slab, Mr. Velth found a fine translucent gray flint arrow point of a side notched type. Further search turned up chips, potsherds, bones, arrow points, in the first eight inches of depth of soil. After a barren layer of sand, another layer rich in artifacts yielded similar material. Altogether, more than one hundred objects were found. Mr. Burggraf believes the evidence indicates that red men lived in the shelter, and left the debris of generations. After the big slab fell, others lived on top of it, although later users left little but charcoal and bones and a few chips and sherds to mark their occupancy. These later denizens made pottery. These fragments were found, but the evidence indicates that the occupants before the slab fell did not know this art, for no traces of such aboriginal earthenware were found in the sand which made the floor of the shelter before the roof came in. It is seldom, Mr. Burggraf points out, that two culture layers are so well defined as in this shelter. Two feet of solid stone separated the upper second period Algonquian occupancy, from the relics of the first period Algonquian hunters who used the shelter before the roof fell.

Further work in the passage behind the fallen slab, produced more arrows, one with a perfect stemmed point of quartz, a stemmed knife of gray quartzite 3 1/4 inches long, the largest artifact found in this shelter. Search in the crevices underneath the great slab indicated possibilities of further discoveries if the ground it covered could be reached. With Mr. Heldger's permission, drilling was resorted to, and blocks of the sandstone taken out, in the sandy earth underneath, more relics of high quality were found, including arrow points of quartz and chert, and many blanks and unfinished arrows. The area under the outer edge of the slab, nearest the brook, had been a place for disposal of refuse, as might be expected, and this strip was rich in relics.

The upper shelter was then explored and yielded about a dozen Indian relics, including three perfect side-notched arrows, one of bluish quartzite, which matched a point of one found previously, and a square based knife which also fitted another fragment of the same quartzite. About 70 chips of this material were found, indicating that some Indian artificer had a small quantity of blanks of this stone, which he evidently valued for its color or texture. No pottery was found in the second shelter, and the material and finish of the artifacts differed from those of the larger shelter, indicating, Mr. Burggraf believes, a different period of Algonquian culture. All the relics may be seen in the Historical Museum, near Bear Mountain Bridge.

The firebox of one of the largest locomotives in operation in this country is nine feet wide and twenty-two feet long or one hundred and ninety-eight square feet, approximately the area of a living-room in an average small home.

Forgetting
Long lines are written—songs are sung—about fond recollections. We're told it's bliss to think of those who won our deep affections. Now, I'm a good rememberer. All noteworthy events stick in my cranium without the aid of monuments. But I'm not sure remembering does all that they pretend. I think you'll find forgetting pays a bigger dividend. Remembering off brings us tears, inspired by our regretting. But who has not found sweet release, from grief, in just forgetting?

WHO SAID HEROISM DOESN'T PAY?

Plenty of 12-year-old girls might envy Kathryn Van Horn—to be with Babe Ruth and Kate Smith. Kathryn was given Kate's $500 heroism prize for saving the lives of two playmates while coasting at her home in White Cottage, Ohio. President Roosevelt previously rewarded her. (Associated Press Photo)

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Educators Plan Courses Here for Teachers, Students

Recently a group of interested educators got together and went over the possibilities of extension courses for the coming winter with Dr. Frank J. Brown of the Department of Sociology of New York University and three tentative courses were discussed as opening subjects. Regular college credits will be obtainable for the satisfactory completion of all courses offered and this credit can be applied toward either the Bachelor or advanced degrees. Educators seem to be the most concerned at present because of the felt need for professional advancement but an effort will be made to have courses in any other line where a sufficiently large number make a request.

The first class meeting will be held in the Kingston High School at 7:15 on the evening of Tuesday, September 29. Those interested may secure information from the several school superintendents of school in Ulster county or any other member of the committee in charge of local matters. This committee consists of the following persons: Superintendent B. C. Van Ingen, Kingston; District Superintendent Clarence Johnson, Saugerties; District Superintendent Lester Roosa, Stone Ridge; District Superintendent Ralph Johnson, New Paltz; District Superintendent Wallace Andrews, Oliveira; Principal Robert J. Service, Kingston; Miss Margaret Schuetz, Kingston; Mr. Sheehy, Wallkill State Prison; Mr. Scanlon, Wallkill State Prison.

Save My "Child"

Kansas City, Mo.—Into smoke and fire in a drug store charged Fire Captain Arthur Mercer. "Help, help," someone appealed frantically. Almost suffocated, he groped his way toward the source of the cry, finally locating it behind a counter. There a radio, tuned to a crime story, was going full blast.

Eastward Ho

Martinsdale, Mont.—Two young buffalo are being broken to harness at a ranch near here by Courtland Du Rand. He plans to exhibit them in New York in 1939.

Tireless Romeo

Chicago—After finding all tires of his car slashed beyond repair, O. A. Ranbeck has decided to be more choosy about his parking places on his next visit to Chicago. Police consoling him with this explanation: "It's undoubtedly a mistake. There's a lady in this building who has had trouble with an ex-boy friend, who likes to cut the tires of her new admirers."

Lucky Frankie

Chicago—Five year old Frank Kerchick missed a picnic but he's still a lucky boy.

Enroute to the picnic grounds with his father and a cousin, Frank opened the rear door of the automobile and tumbled out onto the pavement. Virtually unscathed, he was taken by a passerby to a police station where he forgot all about the picnic while sitting on a big policeman's lap. His father, unaware of the accident until later, was found at home, frantic with anxiety.

Campbell of Highland and also Captain Hoffman, superintendent of the Institution at Napanoch, together with his teaching staff has been assured the committee.

Reds May Bomb Alcazar Fortress

parade for a decisive battle for control of the highway junction.

Capture of Maquedá would place the insurgents in a strategic position for attacks on both Madrid and Toledo. The town is the junction point on two main roads, one leading northwest to Madrid and the other southeast to Toledo.

Between Maquedá and the capital is one other large community—Navalcarnero, about midway between Maquedá and the capital. On the Toledo highway there are no larger settlements.

Bodies of government militiamen were strewn along the pitted, war-torn road over which the insurgents advanced. Deploying the Moors grasped every opportunity for protection offered by the uneven terrain.

Loyal Planes Bombard

Overhead, government bombing planes sought vainly to scatter the advancing Fascists with a hail of bombs, most of which went wide of their marks. Insurgent planes engaged the Socialist fliers in spirited machine gun fights.

In charge of one of the Fascist columns was Jose Salas, former student in a New York high school.

A driving rain, which slowed up the Fascist advance, soaked attackers and defenders alike. The wetness in the low, sandy hills south of the main highway retarded the movement of insurgent artillery batteries which were left far behind as the Fascists ploughed ahead.

The insurgents expected to encounter stiff defenses at Santa Olalla, the final line of government positions southwest of Maquedá. Reinforcements were hastily summoned to back up the Fascist spearhead.

(In Madrid, a radio appeal over the official station ordered all armed and unarmed militiamen to report for duty at their barracks and await further orders.)

Center of Drive

The Fascist drive was centered on Maquedá by the center column. To the extreme left, another group of attackers advanced toward La Iglesuela and Almonox in an effort to reach the road between San Martin de Valdeiglesias and Maquedá.

Another column marched near El Real de San Cincuenta while a fourth aimed at Escalona from which there is a direct road to Maquedá.

For the final drive on Madrid, Franco expected to send at least three columns against the capital on roads from Toledo, Maquedá and San Martin.

Fascist officers confidently predicted they would reach the capital in between 15 days or a month. They asserted the government forces were running short of ammunition.

Departure Hindered

Madrid, Sept. 21 (AP)—American fugitives who boarded the United States destroyer Quincey at Alicante declared today their departure was hindered by hostile Spanish emigration officials.

In reports sent back to the capital, the refugees asserted their journey was delayed for three hours while officials searched the baggage of 45 persons.

The Americans were forced to appeal to the civil government of Alicante and to the United States embassy in Madrid to prevent confiscation of their personal jewelry.

The reports from the refugees said the unfriendly officials were Syndicalists who were members of the General Confederation of Workers.

Attack Is Repulsed

Madrid, Sept. 21 (AP)—Government troops repulsed a Fascist attack at Medinaceli, in Soria province after a fierce battle, the war ministry reported today.

Capture of a quantity of rifles and machine guns also was reported during fighting near Huesca, provincial capital in the northeast.

The ministry asserted Socialist militiamen advanced six miles toward Granadate close the southern and western sides of the sector in the northern province.

Government planes also bombarded Cordoba again, the official report declared.

Aspirin Captured

Saint Jean de Luz, France, Sept. 21 (AP)—Spanish insurgents, in a victory rush toward Bilbao, captured Aspirin, 17 miles west of San Sebastian, diplomatic dispatches said today.

Aspirin, stronghold of Basque Nationalists, fell easily before the Fascist and Carlist militia. The insurgents swept on toward Azcoitia, while another column breached Nivola.

Public Interrogation

George Kitchard of Glasgow was arrested Sunday by State Trooper Walter Keefe on a charge of public intoxication. Arraigned before Judge Bennett at Saugerties the defendant was fined $5.

Held For Hearing

Lewis Johnston of Glasgow was arrested on complaint of Jerry Mayone by State Trooper Walter Keefe and held for a hearing this evening at 7 o'clock before Justice Bennett of Saugerties. The charge was disorderly conduct.

A surprise birthday party was given to Miss Gertrude Scott by Mrs. William Van Steenburgh and Charles Blakeslee at the home of Mrs. Van Steenburgh. Miss Scott was taken for a ride by friends and when she returned found the table decorated with flowers and two very large birthday cakes, with happy birthday. The young people danced to music on the radio and played the piano. Games were played. After an evening of fun a very delightful luncheon was served. Many lovely and useful gifts were received by Miss Scott. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. William Van Steenburgh, Miss May Walker, Miss Evelyn Land, Gloria Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Knapp, Gene Knapp, Harry Newell, Al Walker, Bob Walker and Glenn Knapp. Everyone departed at an early hour, wishing Miss Scott many more happy birthdays.

Surprise Party

On Friday evening, September 18, Miss Helen Reese of 100 South Manor avenue was tendered a surprise birthday party, given by her mother, Mrs. Albert Reese. At approximately 8 o'clock Miss Reese made her appearance at the party and all the guests, who were assembled in one room, shouted in harmony "Happy Birthday to You." The guest of honor was very surprised. First Miss Marian DuBois and Miss Anna Hines took care of the introductions, which were many and with the informal spirit prevailing, the party went into full swing. A vote was taken then and Anna Hines was honored with selection as mistress of ceremonies to lead in the songs, games and other pastimes. The choice proved to be a good one. The initial suggestion offered by Miss Hines was the singing of some popular and less modern tunes and Miss Justina Rowe was the accompanist at the piano, which was carried out to the satisfaction of all concerned. Following this the mistress of ceremonies, with the assistance of Mrs. Reese and Miss Florence Richardson, presented to the guests some popular games and concluded by serving some appetizing refreshments, consisting of soda, ice cream, cake and candy to all. To conclude this gala evening, the male members present offered their conception as vocalists by singing "Good Night Ladies" and "Merrily We Roll Along." Those who attended the party were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Richardson of Poughkeepsie, Mr. and Mrs. Mills of First avenue, Kingston, the Misses Helen Reese, Florence Richardson, Beverly Reese, Maria DuBois, Edwin Schultz, Anna Hines, Genevieve Montelone, Elizabeth Britz, Frances Stead, Justina Rowe and the Messrs. Leo Herbert, Ben Storms, Bob Van Valkenburgh, Bob Maradea, Paul Norwicht, Anthony Beratto, Bill Cole, Frank Richardson of Poughkeepsie, Bob Christians and Irwin Thomas. The guests departed at an early hour in the morning, wishing Miss Reese many more happy years of life in the future.

Huston-Every

Nuptials Sunday

The marriage of Miss Caroline Every, daughter of Mrs. Annabelle Every, to Vernon D. Huston, took place Sunday afternoon, September 20, at 3:30 o'clock in the Albany Avenue Baptist Church with the Rev. Arthur S. Cole performing the ceremony.

As the notes of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin rolled from the console of the organ the bride proceeded slowly down the aisle. The bride appeared very charming.

In a white brocaded satin dress with a long veil caught with miniature calla lilies, and carrying a bridal bouquet of roses and baby's breath tied with white satin ribbons. The matron of honor, Mrs. Eugene Cornwell, was attired in a pink brocaded satin dress with pink and silver hat, silver slippers and carried a bouquet of tallam roses and baby's breath tied with silver ribbons.

The bridesmaids: Miss Evelyn Hecney wore a pink lace dress with hat and slippers to match; Miss Pauline Goerke, blue lace dress with hat and slippers; Miss Viola Freer, yellow lace dress with hat and slippers; Mrs. James Freer, of Troy, a green lace dress with the accompanying hat and slippers; Miss Norma Greene wore an orchid lace dress; Miss Eleanor Denton wore a peach dress. Each carried an armful of gladiolus tied together with ribbon.

The groom was attended by Alderman Eugene Cornwell as best man, while Mark O'M. L. Cornwell acted as ring bearer. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, James Freer of Troy. The two little flower girls were Phyllis Mary Cornwell and Marlene Moore of Glenford, both little tots being attired in white point d'esprit and white net trimmed with pink and blue ribbons, and each carrying a basket of flowers.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the home of Alderman and Mrs. Eugene Cornwell, which was attended by approximately 100 guests. The tables were prettily trimmed with pink and white decorations and baskets of flowers. The bride party was seated at one table on which a large wedding cake was placed. Preceding the luncheon, the blessing was given by the Rev. Arthur S. Cole.

The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond dinner ring while the bride's gift to the matron of honor was an aquamarine white gold ring and an orchid and black toilet set. The bridesmaids all received compact and the flower girls, gold bracelets. The groom presented the best man with a white gold clip, the ring bearer with a wrist watch, and the ushers and uncle of the bride received leather billfolds.

Mr. and Mrs. Huston received many beautiful gifts and best wishes. Following the reception, the couple left by automobile for Niagara Falls and Canada, returning in a short time to occupy their new home that is now under construction on Roosevelt avenue.

Ray Murphy Pleads For World Peaceat Legion Convention

Cleveland, Sept. 21 (AP)—National Commander Ray Murphy voiced a plea for universal peace today as thousands of uniformed world war veterans cheered him at the opening session of the Eighteenth National Convention of the American Legion.

"America will never start a war," Murphy said, "but America can no longer remain in the light of existing conditions."

"It is a tragic thought that the war to end war, which we fought in 1917 and 1918, was in truth the awful beginning of a series of conflicts that may end war only because there is no longer resource to carry them on, no longer men to fight, no longer the will to live."

The military blare of trumpets and the lively beat of drums echoed through Cleveland's public hall as the assembly gathered.

The auditorium, with a capacity of nearly 15,000, filled rapidly. Convention officials predicted a peak attendance of 200,000. Every hotel in the city reported all available rooms occupied.

Gor, Martin L. Dwyer of Ohio, giving the first welcoming address, launched an attack on the Veterans of Future Wars, which he described as an organization of university students designed "to make a mockery of the things you fought for."

He drew applause with the remark, "The Veterans of Future Wars were organized to sneer at the service of the men who risked their all; millions of men resent that sneer."

"They express a disrespect for the things we stood for; perhaps it is because they were in their cradles and they do not understand."

Mrs. Melville Muckelstone, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, reported the membership of the auxiliary at "over 420,000, the largest membership in the auxiliary's history."

Reiterating the theme of world peace, U. S. Senator Bennett C. Clark, Missouri past national commander, said in an address, "The next session of Congress will enact legislation for taking the profit out of war."

Clark, claiming 1936 the Legion's greatest year, said, "The great climax of this year was the efforts of Commander Murphy for legislation sponsored by the Legion to the end that the United States may be kept out of future wars."

Woodstock Liquor Question May Get Vote in November

Woodstock, Sept. 21.—Woodstock liquor interests, represented both by restaurant proprietors and their patrons and those who feel liberally on the subject, spent a busy week-end repudiating charges of townspeople behind a proposal to vote the township dry in November.

Formal denial of a charge that a "strip dance" was held in the cemetery, opposite one of the restaurants where liquor is sold, will be included among others to be filed with Town Clerk Leslie Elwyn in answer to petitions of 381 names designed to secure local option.

Some signers of the petitions presented to the Town Clerk, all notarized, declare that they thought they were signing a paper merely to stop night noises, and intended no attack on the status of liquor within the township.

Three ministers of the township were active in agitating sentiment against the sale of alcoholic beverages in the town and were supported by a number of villagers.

Dry forces claim that they will win at election time, if the matter comes to a vote.

It is planned to give a performance of the amateurs on Friday evening at the fair and also on Saturday afternoon. Buddy Gulton, a well known junior performer, will act as master of ceremonies for the junior class, while John McNeill will preside as master of ceremonies for the seniors.

Tuesday is the last day for enrollment for the big show as it is necessary to compile the program for the performances on Wednesday.

Local Death Record

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Evans Church, wife of Arthur Church, who died on September 17, was held from the parlors of A. Carr & Son on Saturday afternoon with the Rev. Dr. F. B. Seeley officiating. There was a profusion of flowers and the services were largely attended. The body was later taken to Troy, N. Y., for cremation in the Earl Memorial Crematory.

The funeral of Abram North was privately held Saturday afternoon from the late home in Sileightsburgh and was well attended by his relatives and intimate friends. The Rev. Clarence E. Brown, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church officiated at the services at the home and also at the grave in the Fairview Cemetery at Stone Ridge, where burial was made in the family plot. The casket bearers were Raymond Amell, John Hurtica, Harry Van Vleet and Gary Sutton.

The funeral of Miss Flora Bernstein, sister of Jacob Bernstein of this city, who died at the Sherman Square Hotel in New York city on September 17, was held from the Free Synagogue House at 40 West 88th street, New York city, on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were largely attended and Rabbi Stephen Wise officiated. The body was brought to Kingston and interred at noon today in Wiltwyck Cemetery with the services at the grave in charge of Rabbi Bloom of the city.

The funeral of Frank Gallo was held from his late home in East Kingston, Saturday at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 at St. Coleman's Church, where the Rev. Daniel Fant, pastor, offered a Mass of requiem for the repose of his soul. Interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, where Father Fant pronounced final absolution at the grave. The casket was surrounded by beautiful floral pieces, attended to by the high esteem in which the deceased was held, and there were many spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards. There was a long funeral cortege to St. Mary's cemetery. Bearers were Frank Tiano, Russell Salf, Sam Fuoco, Joseph Mitchell, Ralph Mitchell, and John Berardi.

Edward D. Long, formerly of Kingston, died Sunday, September 20, at his residence, 17 Mackey avenue, Port Washington, L. I. His funeral will be held from there Wednesday at 8:30 a. m., thence to St. Peter's Church, Port Washington, where a Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul at 9:30. Mr. Long for some years was an engineer on the former Ulster & Delaware railroad and later worked at the freight house of the West Shore railroad. He left his job on account of illness and was retired for some time. About three weeks ago he removed to Port Washington to accept a position. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Josephine Long; one son, E. Joseph Long, and a daughter, Justine, wife of Henry E. Thomas, of 131 Foxhall avenue.

The funeral of Mrs. George McEroy, who died at her home in Bloomington last Thursday afternoon, was held Saturday morning from her home and from St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, where the Rev. William J. McDonald offered a high Mass of requiem for the repose of her soul. The music of the Mass was under the direction of Mrs. Frank Rafferty, who presided at the organ. Soloists were John Cullen, who sang at the offertory "Ave Maria," and Paul Purcell, who at the termination of the Mass as the body was borne from the altar, rendered "Ave Verum." Several hundred people were in attendance and the funeral cortege was one of the longest seen in Rosendale. The great amount of floral tributes that filled the room in which the body rested in the McEroy home and the representations at the funeral services were eloquent testimony of the respect in which the deceased, Mrs. McEroy, was held. Following the requiem Mass the large cortege proceeded to St. Peter's cemetery in Rosendale where in the family plot the body was laid to rest at the Rev. Father McDonald gave the final blessing. The bearers, close neighbors and friends, were Charles Reilly, Joseph Viviano, Michael O'Connor, Harry Reilly, Vincent Coffey and William Burns.

Popularity of Lily Is Traced Through History

In countless instances, wherever and whenever men and women have sought to typify purity, stateliness, graciousness and other of the fine flowering attributes and qualities of the human mind, they have turned to the lily for an example, for an illustration, for a simile, observes a writer in the New York World-Telegram.

The sentiment, which in our English speech finds expression in the phrases, "Fair as a lily" and "Pure as a lily," also finds lodgment in the idiom of every civilized language.

The words echo a universal agreement; they represent a worldwide ideal; they stand for a commonly held creed. Men and women for hundreds of years have obeyed the injunction of the great Gaillean. The have "considered the lilies" and have found them exceeding fair.

In the world's architecture, its paintings, its literature (both prose and poetry) the lily always has been employed as the symbol of immaculate beauty and purity.

Turning backward in the world's history one finds the lily already in favor as a flower, as a symbol, as decorative art. In the Old Testament there are a number of poetical allusions to it. In the Canticles is one passage known the world over—"My beloved is mine and I am his; he feedeth among the lilies."

The appearance of the lily in Jewish art is evidenced by the description of the great temple built by King Solomon, in which it was stated that Hiram of Tyre wrought in the capitals of the porch pillars with lily work and that he also surrounded the great "molten sea" in the great auditorium with richly carved "flowers of lilies."

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Sept. 21.—Frederic W. Goudy, world famous type designer of Marlborough, made an address at Syracuse on Press Day at the state fair. He spoke before the editors of weekly papers, on the subject of type designing. He asked a return to types of beauty and utility in design, instead of the "senseless riot of atrocities" which modern type shows. Mr. Goudy spoke at the closing session of a three-day annual New York State Association meeting.

February 15th is now set as the date for the completion of the New Central High School at Marlborough. An extension of time which will bring the date to that time has been granted by PWA headquarters has not been received.

The fire district will have a special election on Tuesday evening, October 6, from 7 until 10 o'clock in the court house. Taxpayers at that time will be asked to vote on the question of raising $2,200 for expenses of the fire district during the coming year.

Miss Kathryn Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andrews, left last week for Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., where she will study to become a dental hygienist. Miss Andrews is a graduate of the local school last June.

The Presbyterian Women's Association will hold its regular meeting on Thursday afternoon, September 24, in the home of the Misses Hatfield and Maria Tooker. Mrs. Will Plank will be assisting hostess. All members of the association are asked to attend this meeting.

Dr. Anthony J. Manzella of Newburgh has opened a fully equipped office in the home of the late Dr. Palmer on King street. He was formerly located in the home of Raymond Pressler. Dr. Manzella is a graduate of the University of Buffalo, class of 1927, and also attended the New York Post Graduate Hospital where he took a course in cardiology. He has been connected with the Cumberlan Hospital in Brooklyn, where he served as assisting and attending physician. For the past several years he has been practicing in Newburgh. Dr. Manzella is a brother of Dr. J. A. Manzella of Milton, who took the place of the late Dr. Germain.

Presidential Speed Limit: 35-An-Hour

And No Fiddling With the Motor, Secret Service Tells Charlotte Chauffeur

When Presidents visit Charlotte, Osmond Barringer, at the steering wheel, drives for them. It rained on President Roosevelt, but the President wouldn't hear of raising the top. "It is much to his sporting credit," says Barringer.

President wouldn't hear of raising the top. "It is much to his sporting credit," says Barringer.

by ROBERT J. CRANFORD

Charlotte, N. C. (AP)—Osmond Barringer, Charlotte business man, claims to have chauffeured every President who has visited Charlotte except George Washington.

A recent visit of President Roosevelt led Barringer to relate how he had driven for Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Woodrow Wilson and Herbert Hoover before he piloted the present Chief Executive through the city streets to the scene of the seven-state rally here.

Keeps To 35 On Highway

The stocky "driver of Presidents" does not recall exactly how he happened to get the job.

"I was the first automobile dealer in the south," he says, "and had been driving since 1900. I guess they just had confidence in me."

The job does not make him nervous, he says, but "I naturally feel the responsibility." He always drives more carefully, keeping the automobile at a speed of 35 miles an hour between towns and 15 through them.

Must Stay At Wheel

Perhaps the most impressive thing in connection with the job, Barringer says, is the precautions taken for the President's safety. For instance, the secret service orders Barringer to stay at the wheel continuously.

When President Hoover was at Kings Mountain in 1932 something went wrong with the motor and Barringer started to get out of the car to repair it.

"The secret service men wouldn't let me," he says. "They told me to stay in my seat and be ready to move immediately."

One operative rides on each running board.

Never Criticized

Presidents are gracious passengers, Barringer says, and none has ever appeared frightened or criticized his driving.

A "personal touch" gave Woodrow Wilson a favored place in Barringer's memories.

When Wilson came to Charlotte in 1916, he slipped away after a formal program for a drive to Davidson college, 20 miles away, where he once studied as an undergraduate.

Officialdom and the public were not informed of plans for the visit, and no fanfare heralded the approach of the presidential car. There was no police escort.

Wilson Held Hands

"President and Mrs. Wilson sat in the back seat," Barringer recalls. "I could see them in the rear view mirror. They held hands and he whistled the 'Memphis Blues' nearly all the way. The President knew my name and talked to me. It was probably the most enjoyable trip of all."

All the Presidents who have visited Charlotte have ridden in open automobiles except Theodore Roosevelt, who used a sedan.

F. D. R. Rode In Rain

The top of President Taft's car is the only one ever raised, and that was made necessary by a torrential rain which fell throughout his visit.

President Roosevelt would not consent to raising the top when rain pelted his party en route here.

"It is much to his sporting credit," says Barringer.

Schools Afford "Safety" Possibility

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—Asserting that the schools afford "an unusual opportunity" for highway safety instruction, Dr. Frank P. Graves assured Governor Lehman today that the state's public educational institutions "are carrying forward plans for definite and positive instruction in connection with safety education."

The education commissioner told the governor that there was a "marked interest" in the problem throughout the schools of the state.

In compliance with a legislative resolution asking the regents to supplement present teaching of safety with particular reference to highway safety, Dr. Graves said the motor vehicle department will send "complete statistical data" each month to all high school principals. Accompanying suggestions will point out the significance of this data and the manner in which the material may be put to classroom use.

In addition, Dr. Graves reported organization of a committee representing the motor vehicle department and the schools to work out a special bulletin to serve as a syllabus.

Bates Fruit Sizer, Cleaner and Polisher

If you would like to get the best possible price for your apples and greatly increase your profits, the same as a number of other leading fruit growers have done, I will be glad to help you in this respect. If you call or phone evenings after 7 o'clock I will be glad to assist you in any way I can. My home is 1/2 mile through Old Hurley on Ellenville Road.

M. C. Phillips, D.D.S., Red Hook, N. Y.

Sept. 16, 1936.

Mr. George Bates, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Bates, This is to inform you that your apple grader and cleaner is doing even a little better than you promised. Before using it my McIntosh drops were selling for 65c and 75c. Since using it the price for the same quality apples has been from 85c to $1.12 1/2, and this a. m. I had a telephone message that my drops were better than some picked and graded McIntosh received from other growers. I am using it for hand picked McIntosh.

Yours very truly,
M. C. PHILLIPS.

Skull Fractured When Hit by Auto

William Shaffer, 27, of Malden, is expected to recover from the effects of a fractured skull which he suffered Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a car operated by Herbert Brown, 19, of Linden, N. J. The accident happened at the four corners in Malden as Shaffer walked across the state highway.

After the accident Shaffer was taken to the Kingston Hospital where he was reported as improved today. State Trooper Walter Keefe made an investigation and after several people had been interviewed the driver of the machine which struck Shaffer was not held. The trooper learned that the accident happened when Shaffer is alleged to have walked in front of the Chevrolet car at the intersection of the river road and 9-W about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The impact threw Shaffer against the windshield when a fender struck him. His head struck the glass inflicting the severe injuries. Brown stopped his car within a few feet after the accident. After telling his story to the officer he was allowed to go.

Wonder Special Greeted on Sunday

Mayor C. J. Helselman and a group of city officials greeted the Wonder Special Trains that arrived at the West Shore station shortly before noon on Sunday. The guests aboard the trains were given souvenirs of Kingston together with a message from the mayor. The guests had about 20 minutes to remain in the city and were taken for a brief auto tour of the city, catching hasty glimpses of the Senate House and the other famous old stone houses of Revolutionary days. The Wonder train was in two sections, and left here over the former Ulster & Delaware railroad for Oneonta.

Sex of "Man" Told After 38 Years

San Francisco, Sept. 21 (AP)—After 38 years of masquerading as a man, Jack Bee Garland was mourned by amazed friends today as a woman whose true sex was disclosed after death.

The real name of the retiring 67-year-old "man," noted for aiding the needy, was Miss Elvira Virginia Mugarita, her sister said.

"It's always been a bone of contention—this masquerading of Elvira's," said the sister, Mrs. George Shadburn, 69-year-old writer and social service worker. "Her insistence on retaining men's clothing always filled me with fear."

Mrs. Shadburn said her sister, who collapsed on a street Friday night and died from what physicians said was peritonitis, first adopted the masculine attire and name in 1898. She stowed away on a vessel going to the Philippines, where she worked as a free lance newspaper correspondent and "male" Red Cross aide during the insurrection.

Mrs. Mary Haines, friend of the dead woman, said she continued the masquerade because she found it more suitable in charity work.

Kingston Netmen Trim Monroe, Herzog and Burgevin Are Stars

After a summer season of inactivity in match play, the members of the Kingston Tennis Club dusted off their racquets yesterday and played the strong Monroe Tennis Club on the local courts and tucked away their fourth match of the season by a 7-2 score. The local players, with the exception of Osterhoudt, played with the same rampant power that made them unbeatable several seasons back and proved that the Kingston squad is still a potent factor in inter-city matches. The victory over the Monroe aggregation was doubly sweet because the locals played without the services of Ed Strong and Nick Fowler to prove that the Kingston squad has enough reserve strength to win despite the absence of its regulars from the lineup.

Rose, Lester, Hancock, Herzog and Burgevin went through their singles assignments without the loss of a set but Osterhoudt, in the number six position, found Smith of Monroe too much on his game and lost by 6-4, 6-2. The local player, whose booming service and steady back court play has won him many matches this season, was strangely ineffective against the flat drives of his opponent. On the other hand, Rose and Lester had things all their own way during their matches to completely outclass their opposition with skillfully executed trap shots and well placed volleys.

Bob Herzog was especially severe in his game in beating Dr. Van Keuren of Monroe 6-1, 6-1. The Monroe veteran has always carried his Kingston opposition to three sets but he was no match for Herzog yesterday with the Kingston ace pounding his topped drives deep into Van Keuren's court.

Johnny Burgevin of Kingston cut loose with his finest display of match tennis this season in routing Lavarre of Monroe 6-0, 6-4. This match, played on the court of Mr. Matthews and Senator Wicks at Lake Katrine, was witnessed by a fairly large gallery. Burgevin was so effective in the first set that he let his opponent down with not over ten points.

The smooth doubles combination of Lester and Herzog won easily over Stagpole and Godfrey of Monroe as did Rose and Hancock against Dr. Van Keuren and St. Johns. The third combination of Burgevin and Osterhoudt started well against Lavarre and Smith of Monroe but faltered and lost in three closely played sets.

The match summary
Rose, K., defeated Stagpole, M., 7-5, 6-3.
Lester, K., defeated St. Johns, M., 6-0, 6-3.

Hancock, K., defeated Godfrey, M., 6-0, 6-2.
Herzog, K., defeated Van Keuren, M., 6-1, 6-1.

Burgevin, K., defeated Lavarre, M., 6-0, 6-4.
Smith, M., defeated Osterhoudt, K., 6-4, 6-2.

Doubles
Lester-Herzog, K., defeated Stagpole-Godfrey, M., 6-2, 6-2.

Rose-Hancock, K., defeated Van Keuren-St. Johns, M., 6-0, 6-0.
Lavarre-Smith, M., defeated Burgevin-Osterhoudt, K., 5-7, 5-2, 5-1.

Hedricks Trim Colonials, 7-1, As Joe Brown Stars on the Mound

The Kingston Colonials trailed the Hedrick Brewers Sunday afternoon at the end of the tilt between the clubs on the Pan Am field where Joe Brown, youthful slinger, starred for Jimmy DeCicco's nine by fanning 12 Colonials while his teammates pounded "King Kong" Shackett so hard that he resigned the burling task to Rutherford, who turned in a neat relief job, but, alas, too late. Brown allowed only seven scattered hits.

In the first few innings, the Colonials made a strong threat, aided by walks and stolen bases, but Brown was at his best with men on the sacks. Joe Hoffman hit a one bagger to score the one Colonial marker in the third frame, with two men on, but Carpenter was thrown out going home.

Van Etten brought in the first Hedrick run in the fourth, while Komosa was being tagged out at first, but the Brewers went wild in the following innings and brought in six tallies. Komosa featured with a single in the sixth, bringing in three runners. Shackett left the mound in the third frame, but his rival, Joe Brown, grew stronger and three times stopped the Colonials with men on third.

Batsmen who featured were Melto Berardi and Johnny Quest for the Brewers, who collected two hits apiece, and Burgevin with a double and single for the Colonials.

Hedrick's victory bound up the series between the two clubs, each having won one. The third and deciding contest is scheduled for next week.

U.S. Polo Prospects None Too Bright

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—Smarting under a defeat by the largest score ever recorded in international polo competition, the United States forces looked around today for some means of checking the galloping gauchos from Argentina.

For various reasons, the prospects were none too bright. Apparently unhampered by the soggy turf of International Field at Meadow Brook Club and the rain which fell through the last half of the contest, the Argentines ran wild yesterday to whip Greentree, United States representatives, 21 to 9 in the opening game of the series for the cup of the Americas. The largest crowd of the season, 35,000, saw the rout.

Not since the "bog four" of Tommy Hitchcock, the present Greentree ace, Devereux Milburn, Watson Webb and Malcolm Stevenson whipped Great Britain 16-5 in the opening game of the 1924 Westchester cup series has a comparable score been made in an international series.

Chevrolets Beat Dutchess Champs

The Knights of St. John softball combine of Poughkeepsie, claimants of the Dutchess county championship, fell victim Sunday to the Chevies' hard hitting attack to lose 12-6 and account for the 29th win of the season for Doves tossers.

Frank Brooks and "Red" Schatzel led the Chevies' 15-hit attack with three hits apiece including a home run by Brooks and a pair of doubles by the latter. Earl Newell and Ben Toffel had two hits apiece of which Toffel had a three-bagger.

Ben Toffel on the mound for the winners gave up nine hits and fanned five. With two out in the seventh Poughkeepsie threw a scare into the Chevies by scoring five times on as many hits and a pair of errors to launch their only serious offensive threat.

Giants Need Two

New York, Sept. 21 (AP)—By winning yesterday's game with Brooklyn, while the Cubs and Cardinals were alternating again in their second-place argument, the Giants went into position where they need only two more games to clinch the National League pennant. Their win boosted their lead to six full games over the second-place Cubs.

Giants Need Only Two More Games, Cards, Cubs Alternate in Fight

By The Associated Press

This National League pennant chase is just a cut and dried affair now with the Giants, needing but two games to nail the flag to their mast.

Of course, they could blow up completely and lose all of their remaining eight games—and stranger things have happened—but it seems impossible, with Carl Hubbell on tap to stop any such calamity.

Bill Terry's troupe swept their three-game series with the Dodgers, winding up yesterday with a 5-0 win behind left Freddy Fitzsimmons' six-hit pitching.

At the same time, the cardinals and Cubs have been killing each other's chances by alternating in their series in Chicago. It was Chicago's turn again yesterday and with Bill Lee pitching a four-hitter and Johnny Gill coming through with a three-run, eighth-inning homer, the Cubs bested Dizzy Dean and the Cardinals House Gang 4-3 to regain second place.

All this left the Giants six full games in front of the Cubs and 6 1/2 ahead of the Cards.

The Pirates clubbed the Reds in both ends of a doubleheader to take a spot only two games back of the Gas House Gang. Cy Blanton's four hit pitching featured a 5-1 victory in the opener, and Red Lucas hurled effectively to take the nightcap 6-4.

The Tigers tightened their grip on second place in the American League by a 5-3 win over the Indians stretching their winning streak to seven games.

Lefty Gomez, of the Yankees, held the Senators to two hits in the nightcap of their twin bill for a 3-2 victory. The Nats gained an even break by taking the opener 5-1 as Buddy Lewis walloped two homers.

The St. Louis Browns took two from the White Sox, 8-5 and 9-3, with the aid of a 23-hit attack and some costly Sox errors.

The Red Sox fell apart before unusually fine pitching and the Athletics grabbed a twin win, 3-1 and 5-4.

Danny MacFayden and old Bob Smith led the Bees to a doubleheader triumph over the Phillies 5-3 and 6-5.

ASK THE MAN WHO'S HAD A BLOW-OUT..

If it pays to gamble on tires

A BLOW-OUT is no laughing matter, and any motorist who has had one will tell you so. When your tire blows out... and the steering wheel is torn from your hands... you suddenly realize that gambling on tires is a mighty serious and dangerous business.

Are your tires safe?

At today's high speeds, the tire gets blistering hot inside. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms and grows bigger and BIGGER until—sudden or later—BANG! A blow-out—that might have been prevented if your car had been equipped with Goodrich Silvertowns.

Silvertowns have something no other tire in the world has—the Life-Saver Golden Ply. This amazing Goodrich invention is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. By retaining this heat the Golden Ply keeps rubber and fabric from separating—it keeps heat blisters from forming. And when you prevent the blister you prevent the high-speed blow-out.

See us about these life-saving, long-wearing Silvertowns today. They cost less than other super-quality tires and may save your life.

President Returns to Hyde Park Today, Mother's Birthday

Hyde Park, Sept. 21 (AP).—President Roosevelt paid one of his many periodic visits to his family home here on the Hudson today and divided his time between a library office where he worked on government business and chatting with all the Roosevelts here for a birthday celebration.

Ten Roosevelts and in-laws were here for a birthday dinner tonight in honor of Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, the President's mother. She is 82 and shows little or no sign of age. She suffered several months' illness in a fall in New York city.

The presidential special arrived at 7:22 a. m., eastern standard time, and a few minutes later Mr. Roosevelt was on his way to the rambling stone and stucco home in Dutchess county.

John, youngest son and student at Harvard, and "Sister" and "Buddy" are children of the President's only daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, met the train and motored with him to the family estate.

Besides these three, the President and his mother, those attending the birthday party tonight will be Mr. and Mrs. Boettiger, Mrs. James Roosevelt, a daughter-in-law, and her children, Sarah and Kate. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, recovering in Washington from the grip, is expected here about Wednesday.

Lehman May Help In Bridge Quarrel

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP).—Governor Lehman may be asked to take a hand in the controversy over the proposed Nyack-Tarrytown bridge across the Hudson river, a report reaching the capitol indicated today.

Opponents of the proposed $7,000,000 bridge at Nyack drew up an invitation today to the governor to attend a midstream ferryboat conference, October 3, at the bridge site.

Elmer S. Hader, chairman of the bridge commission of Grand View, said he had engaged a ferryboat on which Rockland and Westchester county opponents of the three-mile bridge would confer. Hader said he would invite the governor and members of the Hudson river crossing authority to attend and "talk things over."

900 G.A.R. "Boys" Gather at Capital

Washington, Sept. 21 (AP).—Some 900 of "The Boys in Blue" gathered today in what some believed may be the last encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Looking forward to Wednesday's parade down Pennsylvania avenue—the same street where they marched in victory before President Andrew Johnson 71 years ago—the veterans planned to close today's series of executive sessions with a semi-official meeting of the whole convention in Constitution Hall.

The aging veterans, many leaning on heavy canes, mingled in hotel lobbies during registration this morning to swap war yarns.

Sunday, in a memorial service, the veterans heard Bishop James E. Freeman of Washington Cathedral declare that "We have lived into a day when the Men in Blue and the Men in Gray have found a common interest"—a sentiment echoed in an exchange of drum salutes between Union and Confederate veterans in a downtown hotel.

Acting Secretary of War Woodring told another meeting that "probably never in the history of the world was such a terrible fratricidal struggle terminated with less permanent ill feeling."

Traver Declines Socialist Offer

Filed Declaration of Socialist Nomination Today with Board of Elections—Endorsed by Democratic Party.

County Judge Frederick G. Traver, Republican candidate for county judge who was also endorsed by the Democratic convention and was designated by the two major parties at the annual fall primaries, today filed his declaration of the nomination as county judge on the Socialist ticket. The declaration was filed today with the Board of Elections.

Judge Traver was recommended by the Republican unofficial convention as the party choice and when the Democratic unofficial convention was held the nomination endorsed his candidacy and his name went on the regular Democratic primary ballot.

The Socialist party had no regularly designated candidate for the office of county judge but at the primaries the name of Judge Traver was written in on sufficient number of ballots to place his name on the Socialist ticket. When Judge Traver learned that he had been designated on primary day as the Socialist party candidate he stated through the public press that he did not desire the nomination and that he would immediately decline the nomination. That declaration was filed with the Board of Elections today.

FOUR FAMILIES FLEE ROOMING HOUSE FIRE

Edgemere, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)—Four families were routed by flames in a three-story rooming house early today. The fire was discovered by nine-year-old Iris Seltzer, who was awakened by the smell of smoke and aroused the other occupants.

Fire companies from nearby Long Island communities extinguished the blaze after a two-hour battle. Ann Gottlieb, owner of the dwelling who lives in a bungalow at the rear, estimated the loss to building and contents at $20,000.

Fire Chief John Connolly of Jamaica and Detective Fred Melahn of Far Rockaway investigated the blaze which started in the cellar. They did not determine the cause, but decided the origin was accidental.

The tax bill of the Class I railroads of the United States in July, this year, was forty per cent greater than one year ago.

Landon Views Crop Insurance Move

be completed and put into operation at the earliest possible moment and immediate steps are to be taken with this objective.

"The time has come to work out permanent measures guarding farmers and consumers against disasters of both kinds (price collapses resulting from surpluses and disappearance of foreign markets, and failure of crops due to drought). Crop insurance and a system of storage reserves should operate so that the surpluses of fat years could be carried over for use in the lean years."

The President suggested it "may be found wise" to limit the application of the plan the first year to one or two major crops.

"There should be no question," he said, "that the welfare of the entire nation would be served by including, as keystones of our agricultural policy, crop insurance and storage of reserves along with conservation of soil and water, better land use, and increased farm income."

Tentative Program

Although details of the crop insurance plan were not officially announced, it is known that agricultural department officials have been working on a tentative program under which a farmer would pay a premium, consisting of a certain percentage of his crop in bumper years, and then would receive an insurance payment in the form of these commodities when his crop proved poor.

The commodity premiums collected by the government would be stored, either in warehouses or under seal on the individual farms. This would be an attempt to work out an "ever normal granary" plan.

It appeared today that crop insurance plans first would be worked out for wheat, cotton and corn—in that order. Roy M. Green, official at the agriculture department, said nearly 100 persons had been assembling data for several months, as a possible basis for crop insurance.

Green said data on "sample" counties has been assembled from the production reports between 1930 and 1935 of some half million wheat farmers.

Similar Study

A similar study on a half million cotton farmers who cultivated 38,000,000 acres of that staple also has been underway. Green said insurance data on 55,000,000 acres of corn, involving another million farmers, likewise was being pushed.

A possibility that several crop insurance plans may be offered congress was seen. Senator Capper, Kansas Republican and backer of Governor Alfred M. Landon, announced several weeks ago that he would introduce a crop insurance measure.

Senator Pope, Idaho Democrat, introduced a crop insurance bill at the last session.

Crop insurance is not a new idea. Secretary Wallace has declared that China for centuries stored grain in good years as a protection against crop yields.

Wallace also has referred to the Biblical story of Joseph and his plan of storing grain in the seven "fat years" for the seven "lean years."

Green expressed the view that a plan as sound as the present system of life insurance can be developed. He declared that if the average wheat farmer agreed to pay a premium of from one to two-thirds of his surplus crop in above normal years, he could be guaranteed a 75 per cent of normal crop in poor years.

Charges of Future.

Green said farmers must be assured enough in bad years to meet fixed charges—taxes, debts and seed for another crop—and at the same time not be paid so much that they would be encouraged to neglect crops.

The premium for the insurance would vary greatly in different regions, he believed. Mr. Roosevelt said the plan should be based on individual farms "to avoid making farmers of one region pay the risks of another region."

Secretary Wallace has said that some type of acreage and production control probably would have to be coupled with any national insurance plan. Otherwise, he said, the surpluses that might be piled up through a series of normal yields could wreck the venture.

Mr. Roosevelt suggested that insurance be "available only to farmers cooperating in farm and soil conservation programs."

Hearst's Reply

New York, Sept. 21 (AP)—William Randolph Hearst, 73-year-old operator of 25 newspapers, published today "A reply to the President" in which he said he had shown Mr. Roosevelt receives "the support of enemies of the American system of government."

The thousand-word statement was cabled by the vacationing Hearst from Amsterdam, a day after the White House in a statement said "A certain notorious newspaper publisher" was attempting "to make it appear that the President passively accepts the support of alien organizations hostile to the American government."

The memorandum said "Such articles are conceived in malice and born of political spite."

Hearst's "reply" followed his newspapers' publication of an article asserting Russia and the communist party of the United States were taking part in the presidential campaign "on the side of the New Deal."

The White House made no comment beyond its original statement, but Earl Browder, communist candidate for president, said:

"The Hearst-Landon campaign must indeed be weakening if it needs such desperate lies to bolster it up."

Browder recalled a May 26 speech in which he said "We do not commit ourselves to Roosevelt" through "a united front with workers who support Roosevelt."

"We do not and will not take any responsibility for Roosevelt," Browder said he asserted at that time.

A slight breeze in Pittsburgh, where Hearst-owned radio station WCAE announced it would carry three subsequent radio addresses by Browder after cancelling a network broadcast by the communist candidate August 12. An official of the station said counsel had advised acceptance of the broadcasts in view of communications act provisions requiring "equal opportunities" of the air for all candidates for public office.

Hearst in his "Reply to the President" expressed a desire to "correct Mr. Roosevelt's misstatements."

"I have not stated at any time whether the President willingly or unwillingly received the support of the Karl Marx Socialists, communists and anarchists, the Tugwell bolsheviks and the Richberg revolutionists which constitute the bulk of his following," the former congressman asserted.

"Does Receive Support"

"I have simply said and shown that he does receive the support of these enemies of the American system of government, and that he had done his best to deserve the support of all such disturbing and destructive elements."

"He was no sooner elected than he adopted the Karl Marx Socialists in almost every word and letter," Mr. Roosevelt compelled the recognition of the bloody dictatorship of Stalin in Moscow. "Mr. Roosevelt must know that the Bolshevik tyranny openly proposes to secure the overthrow of the American system of government by the boring from within which Professor Frankfurter preaches, the 'surging forward of the workers and the farmers' which Mr. Tugwell advocates, and the active and actual revolution which Mr. Richberg hails as here."

Hearst in the introduction of his statement said: "I think I am justified in assuming that I am the subject of the (White House) statement, and that I may courteously endeavor to correct Mr. Roosevelt's misstatements and to set him right."

The White House memorandum Saturday said:

"The President does not want and does not welcome the vote or support of any individual or group taking orders from alien sources."

"This simple fact is, of course, obvious."

"The American people will not permit their attention to be diverted from real issues to fake issues which no patriotic, honorable, decent citizen would purposely inject into American affairs."

LOCAL MEN ENJOY LIFE IN U. S. ARMY

Service with the U. S. Army continues to gain in popularity with the young men of this vicinity and the latest applicant to be accepted and enlisted at the U. S. Army recruiting station in the county court house here is John C. Horvath of 72 Cedar street, this city, who has been assigned to the detached enlisted men's list with station at West Point.

'Red Democracy'

New Constitution May Liberalize Russia

Under the new soviet constitution, with its liberal "bill of rights," Russia launches late this year another stirring experiment. What the constitution says has been published. But what does it mean? Where is Russia going? John Lloyd of The Associated Press, foreign service, tells you in a series of five stories, of which this is the first.

By JOHN LLOYD,

Associated Press Foreign Staff.

Moscow (AP).—Described by Bolsheviks as a gift to the world, Russia's new constitution, to be adopted late this year, will serve as a foundation for "red democracy."

But while the form of a government it prescribes will have many points of similarity with democratic government in other countries, there also will be striking differences.

The key to the situation, observers agree, will lie in the amount of power vested in the Communist party. Few believe the party will cease to be the guiding force.

Secret Balloting.

The Kremlin predicts the innovation will surpass all other political or social systems and it is generally recognized the constitution represents progress. But among the observers are skeptics who want to see it in operation before forming definite conclusions.

On paper the constitution grants the people numerous privileges. Primarily it provides for equal suffrage, eliminating discriminations against the clergy, the former nobility and others. It also permits them to stand for election.

With the old system of voting by show of hands discarded in favor of direct, secret balloting, men and women over 18 will be entitled to vote regardless of religious convictions, past activities or social status.

Democratic Similarities.

The governmental machinery will be similar to democratic government in other countries in that:

It will have two legislative chambers.

It will have a cabinet.

Its head will occupy a post equivalent to a presidency.

Election will be, partly at least, by secret balloting.

But it will be unlike, say, the American system, because:

The "president" will have no power of veto.

He will be chosen by the chambers, rather than by the people directly.

He will share his authority with 26 members of the presidium of the supreme council.

The cabinet or Council of People's Commissars will be selected by the chambers.

Only one of the chambers will be elected directly, the other to be filled with appointees from associated republics and provinces.

Elections Next Year.

After the constitution has been promulgated by the All-Union Congress of Soviets in November, a date,

THIS WILL GO

The old system of voting by show of hands is to be abolished under Russia's new constitution in favor of a secret ballot.

probably early in 1937, will be set for the first general elections. The Congress and the All-Union Executive Committee will cease to exist and will be replaced by the Supreme Council, to be made up of the two chambers called the Council of the Union and the Council of Nationalities.

The Council of the Union will consist of 567 elected members, or one for every 200,000 population. Governing bodies of the associated republics and workers' Soviets of the autonomous provinces will appoint a total of 235 deputies to the Council of Nationalities.

Fifteen million copies of the constitution are being distributed so that farmers, workers, soldiers, housewives and even school boys can study it and offer suggestions.

It is promised these suggestions will be taken into consideration before the charter is finally approved.

Other guarantees contained in the new charter are for freedom of speech, public assembly and the press, and freedom of religious practice. This is not taken to mean that attacks on the soviet system will be permitted.

Tomorrow: Russians May Soon Own Homes.

Georgia has an area of 1,652,213, 376,000 square feet.

These Councils, meeting in Moscow as the Supreme Council, will elect the cabinet or Council of Commissars and choose the Supreme Council presidium with its chairman. His position will be equivalent to that of president. The presidium will govern between sessions of the chambers.

Other Freedoms.

Although it appears the Communist party will continue to enjoy exclusive rights of existence, trade unions, cooperatives and a few other groups will be permitted to put forth
